100% private tour - you choose the pickup time

Door-to-door transport from your hotel or the airport

The Sun Heliocomplex

In the foothills of the Tian Shan mountains, a field of huge heliostat mirrors follows the sun across the sky and reflects its light onto a giant concave mirror. The concentrated sunlight creates extreme heat - enough to melt iron, stone and coins in seconds. During your visit you will learn how this unique solar furnace works, why it was built here, and see mind-blowing physical experiments powered only by the sun. It feels like stepping onto the set of a science-fiction film.

Wine tasting

After the heliocomplex, you will have the chance to taste 7 types of local wine and learn about winemaking in Uzbekistan. If you find a favourite, you can buy bottles to take home. If you are especially interested in wine, a production tour led by experts can also be arranged.

Your schedule, your way

Because this is a 100% private tour, you choose the pickup time that fits your morning routine. We can skip or swap stops based entirely on your wishes - your comfort and curiosity are our top priorities.

Itinerary

1. Sun Heliocomplex (Solar Furnace)

A day trip to the Solar Furnace Sun Institute in Parkent offers travelers a unique blend of scientific exploration and scenic beauty. Here's what you can typically expect to see and do:

At the Solar Furnace Institute:

The Big Solar Furnace: Witness the impressive scale of the heliocomplex, one of only two of its kind in the world. The large parabolic concentrator with its thousands of mirrors is a sight to behold.

Heliostat Field: Explore the field of numerous large, flat mirrors (heliostats) that automatically track the sun and reflect its rays towards the central concentrator.

Concentrator Tower: You might have the opportunity to climb the technological tower that houses the concentrator. From the top, you can often get panoramic views of the surrounding Parkent Valley and the Tien Shan Mountains. Be aware that as of May 2025, the elevator to the observation deck is reported to be out of order, requiring a climb up several flights of stairs.

Solar Energy Museum

2. Hazrati Ali Mosque

Nearby Solar university there is a Hazrati Ali mosque and people say that the follower of Muhammad messenger Hazrati Ali lived in this territory for a while for his respect Hazrati Ali mosque was established and 2002 reconstructed by government. You will see long stairs to the top and amazing nature and on top there is big tree people rest under the tree and drink from well and people pray in attractive Islamic mosque

3. Nature walk

This is nature places with high trees and some rarely find grasses which was mentioned in red book. If you like nature and to hike is best place. Nearby here there is cafe where you can relax in Uzbek traditional suupa and have lunch Shashlik.
